From among many excellent articles on the various topics of every-day occurrence in English political and social life, we have only room for the condensation of a few editorials from the leading journals, leaving the remainder to be digested by our readers at length in the original form. The colonists will be glad to know that the Reform Bill has "dragged its slow length" through the various stages in the House of Commons and is now before the Lords. The Government was signal, and to a less evenlyhave proved disastrous. But "Dizzy" has a larger share of nonchalance than usually falls to the lot of statesmen, and the happy-go-lucky style with which he treats each reverse is in striking contrast with the strong emotional evidences of disappointment that distinguished Mr Gladstone during his trying campaign as leader of the Russell Ministry last session. The Times is pleased with the triumph of the Liberals, and says "it is a moderate step to take away one out of two members from all boroughs having a population of less than 10,000." The Morning Advertiser "apprehends that Mr Disraeli was neither surprised nor much displeased at the decisive de-"that the success of Mr Laing's amendment will rather facilitate than hinder the further progress of the Bill." The amendment, it will be remembered, takes one seat from every two-seated borough with a population thus obtained among larger constitutime is not far distant when it will be necessary to come to some understanding, based on comprehensive principles, as to the position which our Government is to take up towards those foreign States which rob our people by borrowing their money and then paying neither interest nor principal. The number of governments which have broken faith with the English creditor is by this time considerable. Some have openly confiscated the property intrusted to them, and some repudiate; while others, without taking the trouble to do either, content themselves with simply not paying. The last case which has come before the public is that of Venezuela, the Government of which, three years ago, obtained a loan from England, through the General Credit Company, assigning as security the export duties of the republic, which were to be paid into the hands of the British consul. Twice the payments have been suspended by decrees, the Government wanting the money for its own purposes. The lenders are indignant, and, as usual, carry their complaints to the Foreign Office. It is said that Lord Stanley is not averse from taking some action in the matter. But what action ought to be taken? Is it to be understood that the war power of this country is as a rule to be at the service of those who have been so unfortunate as to lend their money to a dishonest government? Unless we are prepared to affirm this principle and to apply it universally, it is not clear what the ruptcy Bill now before the Commons has provoked considerable discussion. The Daily News denounces it as a "retrograde measure, which ever so much as it pleases solicitors, must dissatisfy clients." The bill will be much more expensive than the old one. The News adds "it is sheer perversity of the Government to defy the voice of the commercial community on this subject." The Times and Standard, on the other hand, speak highly of the given to the affair, however, has called anced by a preponderating good result. The best means to give an Irish insurrection the right to exist is to clovate a few wretched intriguers into the position of national martyrs, and thereafter so to misgovern—in the interest of the greatest number—the country that not only the entire Irish people, but a large portion of their English brethren, will welcome any effort to throw off an intelerable yoke. There are symptoms, however, in the colitical horizon of a greater desire and interest of the greatest number—the colitical horizon of a greater desire and interest of the greatest number—the country that not only the entire Irish people, but a large portion of their English brethren, will welcome any effort to throw off an intelerable yoke. There are symptoms, however, in the colitical horizon of a greater desire and interest of the greatest number—the control of the greatest number—the country that not only the entire Irish people, but a large portion of their English brethren, will welcome any effort to throw off an intelerable yoke. There are symptoms, however, in the colitical horizon of a greater desire and the color of the color project which we hope will be accomplished, pharisaic blindness and philosophic dilettanteism not with standing. The Chronicle remarks that from the Conservative point cf view the policy of mercy has no firm ground to stand on. If the Gove ernment of Ireland is all that it ought to be; if the people are as prosperous and contented defeat on the redistribution of seats as the laws of nature will allow; if emigration is merely a necessary drain on a too balanced mind than Disraeli's would numerous population; if the tenants want nothing but that on meddling legislation should come between them and their landlords; if the Catholic peasantry are only nnxious to have an establishment of educated Protestant gentlemen maintained among them at the public cost; then, indeed, there seems little cause for any mitigation of Burke's sentence. The serpent who comes to tempt the dwellers in a political Eden deserves the worst that may befall him. The true justification of the leniency which has at last prevailed is one of which no Conservative can avail himself without ceasing ipso facto to be a Conservative. It is that, amidst all the folly and wickedness which characterizes the Fenian movement, there is at the bottom of it that abiding sense of wrong which bad government creates and cherishes in its victims. The Times (June 4) insists that the first object of railway companies as feat"; and the Stundard is of opinion the general panic passes away and the morey market resumes its ordinary tone, should be to satisfy the public with complete and accurate accounts. Every sound railway-that is, as we are told, nineteen English railways out of twenty-ought, after the exceptional tie es of financial panic have passed away, to have a residue of profit left for its ordinary under 10,000, and distributes the seats shareholders. Give the public the means of estimating this residue, and ordinary railway encies. The Daily News says "the shares, to say nothing of preference stocks, will soon recover their value. The Spectator is evidently sorry to see that Mr Mill made a speech last Saturday at St. James's Hall which was not at all in his true line. It was against Mr Disraeli's clauses about the (then dying) compound householder, and his speech was an attempt in the direction of roughand-ready agitation. It expressed his resolve 'to be a precious great distance out of the wood before I holloa in future,' and contained other idiomatic vulgarisms of that kind. It is more painful to see Mr Mill studying this style of speaking than it ever was to see Burke cutting blocks with a razor. His style is naturally refined, acute, discursive, above all things, intellectual. And there is, consequently, a hollow ring about his mob-style, as well as a painful contrast between it and that which really belongs to him. The Morning Herald (June 4) believes Lord Chelmsford's Bill for amending the existing County Court Acts will remove several causes of complaint and scandal. Henceforth cases may be tried before the County Court Judge of the district within which the cause of action wholly or partially arose, whether the plaintiff or defendant lives in that district, and whether or not the parties live more than twenty miles apart. If difficult points of law are involved, it will still be competent to the suitors to try them before her Majesty's judges, but for the future we shall not hear of simple actions for three or four pounds' worth of goods sold and delivered brought before judge and jury a Westminster, solely because a sleeping partner in a large firm happens to live at Brighton, because the defendant is a railway company with a metropolitan terminus, or because the action arose partly in one County Cou.t district and partly in another, Exceptions of this kind, which are merely arbitrary, have been permitted to endure too long. The Morning Herald (May 28) sees in the Sultan's visit an opportunity for fetes, and shows, and balls, and operas, and gala days and nights, which may do something to rouse this world of London out of its lethargy. The Sultan is to come as the guest of the Queen. We must lodge him in oriental state. We must show him a horse-race, and dazzle his eyes with flower-shows, take him to the opera, where he may listen to Patti and Titiens, and look at a ballet, if the Koran will permit it. We must take him to and fro to show him how huge, if not how beautiful, this Loodon of ours is; teach him Give me only this one assurance, that there something of our mines, our manufactures, our spinning, and our forging; lead him in and out of our network of railways and roads; whirl him above ground and underthe other hand, speak highly of the measure, and declare that it will consolidate as well as impr ve" the law now in force. Shortly after noon on Sunday, a long and beauty of the Control of the Control of the Control of their parts. riders, together with their astute knowledge of the channels of publicity, have astounded Paris. They are better known in Paris than Franconi's circus, which has been from time them in the service. The publicity given to the affair, however, has called forth a stringent order against the perpetration of jokes of the character in the future. The London Review says that the recent Irish robellion was wrong, because it was ridiculous, because it nover had a chance of being successful—because it was the origin of deplorable loss of life, political disturbance, and consequent injury to turbance, and consequent injury to the well-being of the nation, without a hope of these evils being overbal

the almost equally terrific convulsions of a returning peace, that there is so much charity expended by the people of Massachusetts to a man who has had upon him responsibilities from which, if he had been able to foresee them, his very thought would have dictated that he should seek to escape from them.

[Three cheers for General Sheridan were given at this point.]

I am here with the President of the United States in Massachusetts. I must be allowed to express to you the satisfaction which I enjoy in the reception which you have extended to him. I was with him a fortnight ago in his native State of North Carolina. [Cries of "Three cheers for North Carolina."] You may well give three cheers for the State of North Carolina. She was the first State of the Republic but the consent of the people of Massachusetts. Now, I know that all this is corring about—is coming about very soon. I have seen the earth and the skies full of the elements of fertility, of health and of vigor; and I saw in North Carolina the cotton spring up which is to supply next year the mills of Massachusetts. I have seen in New York the whear growing that is to supply the state of the state of the supply next year the mills of Massachusetts. I have seen in New York the whear growing that is to supply New York the wheat growing that is to sup-put into his hands with which he shall be able to compel their consent during his nature al life. On the other hand, a republic elects a president, and they take security against his abuse or tyrannical exercise of power by stipulating that he shall be President for but four years; and having made that stipulation they agree that he shall have no swerd in his hand to keep him in the possession of the power they have entrusted to him, but that they by their own consent will acquiesce and sustain him for the period of four years and no longer, when they can turn him out and put in a successor that they elect. Now galley slaves in the atranal, and woe to the and no longer, when they can turn film out and put in a successor that they elect. Now gallay slaves in the areal, and were to the if you are going to have a President, as a President is a necessity, and for four yerrs, how are you to get him? You are to agree that the majority of the people or the States that the majority of the people or the States shall elect him. There is no other way but that you must acquisece in it during the term of, and that the minority concur in the choice that the majority has made for four years and no longer. Only adhere to that one simple principle, and the republic will last a President that the people themselves, without the employment of military force, will sustain for four years at a time, and no long-er. But what have we seen? We have seen this republic on the very brink of death and dissolution. And why? Because ten States of this Union refused to submit to the States of this Union refused to submit to the President that was chosen by the majority of the other States, six years ago, and what did you do? You compelled them to submit; you compelled them to acquiesce. Now you have another President for four years, and two of those years are gone, the majority will then elect another President. Do you not expect that the monority, who vote against that new President, will acquiesce in his holding the executive power for the four years for which he is to be elected? Why? Because the minority must acquiesce. Because the minority must acquiesce, or your nation is to be abandoned to ruin and have just got to learn one simple habit-that of acquiescing in the choice that we ourselves made of our President for four years, and then, at the expiration of that time, improv-ing upon the last choice by making as much better one as we have the success and wisthem by the majority of the American people. Give me only this one assurance, that there shall never be an unlawful resistance by an armed force to the President bearing the thority of the United States and then 50, 40, or 30 more years of life, and I will engage to give you the possession of the American continent, and the control of the entire world. [Cheers.] Deny me that simple thing of the acquiescence of the people in their own choice, and I will not pledge you the continuance, the existence of this Union through half the period which we sacrifices of the greatest civil war the world has ever seen. The moral of my subject is loyalty and patriousm, devotion to your constitution and laws, and whatever is wrong in the laws, or in the customs or the habits of society, trust to their correction through

Shortly after noon on Sunday, a long and heavily loaded immigrant train passed through Gaelph, en route to the Western States. There were, we should think, eight or nine hundred persons crammed in ten common grain cars, with the doors boarded up part way, and a small square hole in the upper rear corner to let in the air. For the benefit of those who have less knowledge of railways, then outsides we would say that railways than ourselves, we would say that these cars are built perfectly tight, for the conveyance of grain and other inanimate things. Cattle and pigs would suffocate in them, and so they have superior accommoda-tion—their cars having strips up the side, with plenty of space for ventilation between. These immigrants were from Germany, and had ridden all the way from Point Levi.

Every one who has ridden a good distance on a train knows very well how sweet it sometimes is to get a draught of water; the mingled dust and heat of a crowded car making the travellers drink like a fish. By the time these poor half famished wretches reached Guelph they were actually panting for water, and when they caught sight of for water; and when they caught sight of some pails which had been placed for them on the platform several sprang over the boarding before they could be handed up to them. The two or three buckets passed into the cars were seized by strong, rude men in front, who dipped in their heads almost to the ears, and thus gulphed down the precious liquid. Meanwhile could be heard from the midst of the car the tearful cries of mothers of North Carolna. She was the first State to put forth a declaration of independence in the revolution against Great Britain. You may well give three cheers for North Carolina. She was the first of the 11 who secoded to come back again to the family fireside of the Union, and to-day nothing is wanting for her to resume her ancient, honorable, and most patriotic position in the family of the Republic but the consent of the people of Massachusetts. Now, I know that all this is corning about—is coming about very soon. I have seen the earth and the skies full of the elements of fertility, of health and of vigor; and I saw in North Carolina the cotvigor; and I saw in the finite the and admsels, and the sobs and damsels, and the sobs and groans of children, and damsels, and the sobs and groans of chieldens, the balant damsels, and the sobs and groans of chieldens, ers, who declared it the most shameful sight they had ever witnessed in Guelph.—Guelph (C.W.) Advertiser.

the mills of Massachusetts. I have seen in New York the wheat growing that is to supply the West Indies and the Southern States. I know that nature designs that this whole continent—not merely these 36 States, but this whole continent—should be, sooner or later, within the magic circle of the American Union. [Loud cheers] The people in North Carolina and Georgia may try to get out as much as they please, and you here in Massachusetts may try to keep them out as much as they please; God and nature have decided against both, and you are to live to gether as brothers in unity and harmony.

Now I told you that I was peculiarly gratified with the reception that you gave the yet greatest of the United States to-day. Now let us say one word for your serious reflection on this subject. Almighty God has revealed to men or allowed them to conceive of no asfe or permanent government in which there shall not be one executive head. That head, must exist in the government, whether it is a king, or an emperor, or a president. There are but two ways in which an executive head as a most process for our President by election— [three cheers for our President by election— to the cheers for our President by the red that have been willing to submit to a king or an emperor, and therefore, before he is born the sword is prepared which is to be put into his hands with which he shall be able to compel their consent during his natural life. On the other hand, a republic elects

There was a report in Rome that a company of Zouaves had fallen in with them and killed several, but it was not credited. The Papal government reaps what it has sown. In 1862-3 it welcomed the brigands as Bourbonist heroes, defenders of throne and altar, allowed them to equip themselves in its territory, and even supplied them with provisions. M de Merode protected them and ordered his gendarmes not to melest them. This republic can never perish if you have

WILLIAM CREEK No marked improvement in the state of mining operations on this creek can be noted for the past week. The Bed Rock Drain still remains obstructed, notwithstanding every exertion is being used to have the obstructions removed. It is needless to say that the total suspension of mining on creek claims between this place and Cameronton is deeply felt by every member of the community. But for the unfortunate accident to the drain, times would have been very lively this season. As it is, we have only to look forward to a more prosperous fall to bring everything out right. At the upper end of the creek the companies have no reason to complain. The copious rains that have fallen during the past three or four weeks have favored their operations in the highest degree, enabling them to do an amount of ground sluicing that could not possibly have been accomplished had the weather been dry.

Bradley-Nicholson co., Mcuntain co. and Wide West co. are making wages. Deadwood co. are doing extremely well. Jenny Lind co. are running a drain. Casket co. are making wages. Mc Laren co. washed up for the week 50 oz. Wilson co. cleaned up last week 611/2 oz. Dutch Bill co. cleaned up for four days work 20 cz. The Flume co. intend setting boxes and washing the dirt as they proceed along. It is believed they can in this way more than clear expenses. The claims between Richfield and the canyou are making more or less money. Australian co. are making about wages. Davis co. washed up for the week 135 oz. Aurora co. cleaned up for the week 36 oz. Forest Rose co. were off pay in the early part of the week, but struck it again on Friday, when they washed out 14 oz. for eighteen hours work. MINK GULCH.

The Perseverance co. are beginning to flad very good indications of big pay. STOUT GULCH.

Alturas co. washed out for the week 169 oz. Mucho Oro co, took out about 30 oz. for the week.

CONKLIN GULCH.

United co. washed up for the week 85 oz. The Ericcson co. washed up for the week about 30 oz.. Reid co. washed up about 30 oz. for the week. British Queen co., who were doing extremely well, got drowned out in consequence of the caving of their drain. Moonlight co. washed out semething over 3 oz. from a set of timbers last week. MUSQUITO GULCH.

Prospecting is being vigorously carried on in this gulch with very encouraging results.

The Discovery and Hicks co.'s are washing and taking out good pay. Pierce & Co., beat 30 feet and obtained fair prospects. Another company above the Hicks co. got down 18 feet with a shaft, but were driven out with water. Holman co, have bottomed and washed out 2 ounces. United co. are sinking a shaft;

BEGG GULCH.

This gulch promises to yield richly, if we are to judge by the prospects that are being obtained by the Ancient Briton co., who have not yet reached the bed-rock. We were, on Friday last, shown a sample of the dust from this claim, weighing $32, washed out of three car loads of the gravel.

GROUSE CREEK Times begin to be more lively and hopes appear to brighten among the miners on s creek, not on account of the discovery of the long lost Heron lead, which still eludes the most eager search, nor by reason of the late excitement regarding the Canadian claim, but because of the indications of a continuation of pay towards the upper end of the creek being revealed. It appears that there are two or three companies ground sluicing in the bed of the creek, above the saw-mill, who are getting prospects in the gravel that warrant them in believing rich pay will be found. In consequence of this the creek has been claimed for pearly a mile above, and work will be commenced on the claims at once. We are confident that this portion of the creek will give a good account of itself soon.

NEW DIGGINGS. We are informed that very good prospects have been obtained by a prospecting party on a high bench two miles to the east of Grouse creek. The gold is found in the gravel. Several claims have been staked off, and a number of men will start for the locality this LOWHEE CREEK.

Vaughan, Sweeney and Kelly companies continue hydraulicing. Plumbago company are making $10 to $12 a day to the band. Now or Never company are still drifting across the channel with good indications of finding pay. East Bank Discovery co. are making about wages. Chittenden company put in their flume last week and washed up 12 cunces. First Chance company washed up for the week 90 ounces. This company appear to have at last struck the long lest

The prosing in the extreme, but beyond this nothing ladies, with a private entrance from Yates is yet known as to the richness of the creek. As there are now over sixty men on the lishment presents an appearance of cleanliground it is more than probable that something definite may be expected in the course of a week or ten days.

LEARNING TO COURT-An amusing little story come to us from the suburbs. A goodwife who, with the assistance of her son, a youth of some twelve years, cultivates a small piece of ground, observed lately that her assistant was frequently missing for hours at a time, and that during his absence the garden and fences were neglected. Weeds egan to grow apace and strange pigs and goats to wander through the garden undisturbed by the heretofore vigilant youth. Alarmed at the remissness of her boy-who in his manner, frequently heaving deep sighs, declining to eat, talking in his sleep, and displaying a strong penchant for walking out o' nights, especially when the soft rays of the moon illumined the earth-the old lady at last concluded to watch him, and a few days ago, observing the boy disappear in a corner of the enclosure in which the grass is the greenest and the current bushes thickest. she followed and came suddenly upon her hopeful son stretched at full length on his back engaged in reading Read's "Griffith Gaunt," with an air of absorbed interest that told how thoroughly his mind was absorbed in the perusal of the work. He was sailing in a delicious sea of imagination, nor did he awake to a realizing sense of his presence on earth, until the voice of his mother upbraiding him for his laziness broke upon his ear. "What good do you get?" demanded the mother, "by reading such books as this? You ought to be ashamed of yourself! Instead of weeding the vegetables and keeping the pigs out of the garden, here you are stretched out reading this trash.' 'Why, mother,' replied the young hopeful, sheepishly. 'I was studying.' 'Studying! what could you learn out of a book like this?' 'Learn, mother? why, I'm learning how to court !' The mother picked up 'Griffith Gaunt' and rehalf a dozen bigamies and any number of in-

THE TWO FRENCH COLONIES OF BRITAIN, -The exhibition of the island of Mauritius is next to that of Canada. It is a singular coincidence which thus re-unites, side by side in the British section, two old French colonies, which, though thousands of leagues distant from each otter, have been subjected to almost the same vicissitudes. Mauritius has preserved, down to the present day, its analogy to Lower Canada. The descendants of the French there perpetuate the laws, the manners, and the language of their ancestors. The English settlers are themselves proud of the French memories which ennoble 'the beautiful Isle of France,' immortalized by the love of Paul and Virginia not less than by the exploits of Labourdonnaye. At the low the Discovery co., bottomed their shaft present time, the inhabitants of the Mauritius enjoy the same constitutional liberty as their Canadian brothers, and this liberty is all the more assured that they, as we, only obtained it after an obstinate struggle. Passing under English rule in 1810, Mauritius has not ceased to grow in commercial importance. Several of the exhibitors have names which make us think of Canada. I see at random in the catalogue, Langlois, Barbeau, Suzor, Poulin, &c .- Minerve's Paris Correspond dence.

> FROM QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLAND-The schooner Alpha came in from Queen Charlotte Island on Saturday: Among the passengers were W. Green and W. C. Robinson, surveyors. We learn that the miners are running a tunnel into the bill. They are in 300 feet and expect to reach the coal when firing, Tuesday and Friday, at 4 p. m. By they have gone 30 feet farther. As far as order, J. Gordon Vinter, Lieut. and Adjt. * could be judged from the outcroppings, the seam is valuable. There are seven men at the mines, all well. The Indians are peaceable. The Alpha took a party of fishermen to Prince of Wales Island, During three weeks that our informant remained at Skidegate Bay, rain fell every day but one. At recovered from their illness.

FROM BUTE INLET-A party of Mr Waddington's Homathco Indians from Bute Inlet came down yesterday, and it appears from their report that the Chilcoaten murderers are not all dead. During the absence of the Homathoos, four months ago, a number of ingredients in Ayer's Sassaparilla, and, the Chilcoatens came down to the head of the Inlet and stole all their salmon and other iktas, and on their way back burned one of Mr Waddington's small houses at the halfway camp on the road to the ferry. Their plantations of their own, in Honduras, to tracks have been frequently seen in the secure an article of superior and wholly rethat some of the murderers are still stopping medicines may be seen in the watchful care at the ferry.

I.O.O F .- Daniel Norcross, Esq., U.S.G.R. Encampment, is now on a visit to our city, and, we understand, has by a special dispensation received by telegraph from San Francisco, been commissioned to act as Grand Representative by the Grand Master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for this District (No. 46), now under the superintendence of D.D.G.M. J. S. Drummond. A general meeting of the Order will take place this evening, at 8 p.m., at their hall, which will no doubt be largely attended, it being the first visit of any high officer to Victoria Lodge, No. 1.

THEATRICAL PERFORMANCE-So long a time has elapsed since our citizens have enjoyed a theatrical performance that they will be delighted to know that Admiral Hastings has consented to bestow his patronage upon an entertainment to be given by the Marsh Family, the Zealous Dramatic Club and the Zealous Band, at the theatre on Thursday evening. The bill is a splendid one, and the house will, no doubt, be crowded.

NEW FERRY-A ferryboat will shortly run from some point of the city front to Victoria | rounding Property. West, where a landing has been built and a also began to be very silent and distracted trail cut to the Bush Tavern on Esquimalt road: It is estimated that the establishment of this ferry will save pedestrians bound for Esquimalt mere than two miles, which they are now compelled to walk.

This new ferruginous medicine contains the element the blood and bones, and iron in a liquid state. It is bleed and benes, and from in a liquid state. It is not from all hitherto offered to the public, is liquid, set and tasteles. It is peedly cures culorosis, pains stomach, difficult digestion, dysmenorrheea and a. Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as Emptyty and Srin Diseases, St. Anthony's Fine, Rose, or Envirence and Emptyty and Srin Diseases, Primers, Tunors, Tetters, and Salt Rheeus, Scald Head, Ringwork, Rheeusatism, Symhletic and Merchall Diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Debility, and, indeed, all Complaines and Merchall Diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Debility, and, indeed, all Complaints arising from Vitaled or Impure Blood. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood," is founded in truth, for scrolula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions. anomia.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures, and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costineness, Heartburn, Headache arising from a disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Boucks, Flatuiency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.
